FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PRAGMATIC INTRODUCES AFFORDABLE SOLUTIONS FOR AUDIO DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM

(Santa Clara, California, March 17, 2003) The Pragmatic PADS™ (Pragmatic Audio Distribution System) fills your house with music; whether it's for a party or just for ambiance. PADS™ sends high quality stereo signals and DC power on Cat5 cabling to 4 rooms in your house. PADS™ is infinitely expandable by adding additional modules. Each room has a high performance stereo amplifier and volume and volume control in a single gang electrical box. Since PADS™ uses standard industry wiring, installation is extremely quick and simple. This saves both time and money for the installer.

The PADS™ can take any audio signal, such as the signal from an integrated receiver, a CD player, a hard disk based audio server, an MP3 player from a PC, or a stereo and distribute it throughout the house. To make installation even easier, the power supplied to the amplifiers comes from the PADS™ through the Cat5 cabling. This means there is no excess wiring for power at the amplifier.

Three hundred feet... That's how far each room can be away from the PADS™ base. Each room gets two speakers (stereo) as standard equipment included in the package. Although the system comes with 8 high quality in-wall stereo speakers, if you so choose you can use speakers you provide yourself. In addition, the system is powerful, almost twice the power of similar competing products.

The PADS™ is in stock and is available in Bronze, Silver and Gold package.

Pragmatic has been in business since 1994, and has cultivated a diverse technology base with emphasis on innovative audio and video distributions systems. Pragmatic is mostly known for their revolutionary product CATS™ that transmits studio quality stereo audio, professional quality video and control signals over one cat5 cable.

In addition to CATS™, Pragmatic also manufactures studio-quality amplifiers, tuners, wired and wireless A/V products. Pragmatic constantly adjusts and improves its products to stay one step ahead of the customer's needs.
